Some of Harris's early staff was also discomfited by her prosecutorial leadership style, former staffers said, which included pointed questions from Harris about footnotes in their reports or the reasons behind why certain items had been added to her schedule.

"It's stressful to brief her, because she's read all the materials, has annotated it and is prepared to talk through it," said one former aide.

"You can't come to the vice president and just ask her to do something," said another staffer. "You need to have a why."

That behavior manifests in other encounters, the staffer continued, such as when someone pays her compliments. "She'll turn to them and say 'why?,' and that throws them off," the staffer said.

NPR on London, KY shooting

Multiple people were injured in a shooting near a highway north of London, Ky., and a person of interest remained at large, officials said Saturday.

Laurel County Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to the area about 8 miles north of London, Ky., at about 5:30 p.m. Eastern time, where officers found nine vehicles had been shot and five people seriously injured, according to a Laurel County Sheriff's Office Facebook post.

London Mayor Randall Weddle said in an earlier Facebook video that up to seven people were injured, but not all of them from gunshots — some due to car crashes. At the time he said there were no fatalities

The London Police Department released an image of a person of interest and identified him as Joseph A. Couch, a 32-year-old white male approximately 5'10" and 154 lbs. Couch is considered armed and dangerous and should not be approached, police said.

The Laurel County Sheriff's Office said that the "scene is being contained overnight and an active search and the continuing investigation will occur at daybreak on Sunday morning."

Gov. Walz at the HRC dinner: "Everyone just deserves to be treated with respect. Freedom to make that choice. And I keep reinforcing this because they talk about this — you know, 'no government's too big in all this.' Big enough to be in my bedroom, apparently. Big enough to be in your uterus. Sheriff: Student killed in Joppatowne High School shooting

WBAL-TV

<https://www.wbaltv.com > article > joppatowne-high-sc...>

19 hours ago — A Joppatowne High School student shot by a classmate Friday died at a hospital, Harford County Sheriff Jeff Gahler said.

2024 shooting

Around 12:36 pm on September 6, 2024, a 16-year-old Joppatowne student shot a 15-year-old classmate during an altercation in a bathroom. The suspect fled the school and was caught shortly after in a nearby apartment complex, however no gun was found. The shooting was described as an "isolated incident". The victim was flown to a hospital with serious injuries, and died soon after arrival. The suspect will be tried as an adult.[4][5][6]

It's a firm rejection not just of traditional Republican policies, but of the constitutional order on which this country depends. ... Given the closeness of this election ... it's not enough to simply say, I'm not going to vote for him."

Liz Cheney on ABC: "[Harris] understands that this election is going to require a coalition of people from across the political spectrum supporting her and that also necessitates an understanding that you've got to govern for all ... In this clip, Tucker Carlson lies and says I texted him to express outrage that he'd platformed Darryl Cooper. That's false. He actually texted me because I'd publicly mocked his interaction with Cooper — mockery that he now mischaracterizes as “outrage” and “hysteria” — and that apparently got under his skin. By text he accused me of slander, saying I'd smeared him as a Nazi. He also insulted me repeatedly. I asked him what I said that was slanderous or even hinted that he was a Nazi and he refused to answer.

It was in response to his accusation of slander that I explained why I, and others, had publicly voiced objections. It was pretty wild, I explained, to see a Hitler apologist platformed and praised effusively by Tucker Carlson. He replied, “Platformed? You mean ‘spoke to?’” I said yeah, you spoke to him on your platform to purposefully amplify his voice and that has understandably raised some eyebrows. It's fine if you want to do that, I told him. You have every right. But people also have a right to respond honestly and critically without being accused of

I have always appreciated Tucker's support of free speech in general and The Babylon Bee, in particular. I do not appreciate his publicizing and mischaracterizing our private interactions. I also think it's beyond silly how Tucker and others on the right are pretending they aren't "allowed" to have these conversations. He claims we're living in a society where you're "not allowed" to express heterodox views. That's ridiculous. He and Cooper started a discussion. Others have continued it. No one has tried to end it. Pretending it's "forbidden" just because people care enough about the truth to respond is both dumb and dishonest. The conversation happening over the last several days has been about whether or not Cooper's claims are valid — it has not been about whether he had a right to make them. That's debate, not censorship.

But this is the new playbook for many on the right. They make provocative statements in hopes of generating objections, and then they cite those objections as proof that no one is allowed to have the conversation. I guess they think you're too stupid to see that the objections are themselves part of the conversation.

This is what Trump said at a rally in Wisconsin yesterday: "Can you imagine you're a parent and your son leaves the house and you say, Jimmy, I love you so much, go have a good day at school, and your son comes back with a brutal operation. Can you even imagine this? What the hell is wrong with our country?" You have to imagine it because it simply doesn't happen. He's demeaning schools, educators, and parents with a complete fantasy.

Bottom surgery for transitioning people lasts for hours, along with several days in the hospital for recovery and a few weeks at home, too. So the idea that Trump is spreading that this is being done to kids at school during a regular day is so ludicrously dumb and demonstrably false that, like so many things he says, it should be disqualifying.

Trump is now proposing two of the largest-ever federal arrests of people living in America, including U.S. citizens, if he's re-elected

1. Trump, on his Truth Social platform

last night, threatened to jail adversaries, including Democratic donors. "WHEN I WIN, those people that CHEATED" in elections of 2020 or 2024, he wrote, "will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the Law, which will include long term prison sentences ... Please beware that this legal exposure extends to Lawyers, Political Operatives, Donors, Illegal Voters, & Corrupt Election Officials."

2. Trump, asked by TIME magazine in April about his plans for the largest deportation of undocumented immigrants in American history, said he has "no choice": "I don't believe this is sustainable for a country, what's happening to us, with probably 15 million and maybe as many as 20 million by the time Biden's out. Twenty million people, many of them from jails, many of them from prisons, many of them from mental institutions."

Liberals suck.

I run a free political satire and general news magazine online which is aimed largely at undecided voters, ostensibly to support Harris/Walz. I'm a retired, registered, moderate-to-conservative FL Dem of 40-plus years, This is the latest issue, #9: https://archive.org/details/hot-air-24-iv_202409

Most of the content is commentary from liberal-leaning Threads, and by other news outlets, plus memes and screenshots of tweets and other appropriate images. Equal time is given to some R's for historical accuracy and fair play. Language and content not for kids under 15. Please pass on to undecideds so they'll be better informed.

I also include my own memes, such as the one attached. The subtle approach would appeal to Christians who know their Bible quotes. Just chapter and verse location, not the verse itself. (This one is "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's. clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.")

Trump's treason in terms of the top secret documents he stole, which resulted in the deaths of US intelligence personnel, needs to be kept in the public eye. We also need to investigate more fully the failure to plan and prepare for the withdrawal of troops in Afghanistan, which resulted in more deaths. As Republicans draw attention to this they've shown that Trump agreed to a withdrawal less than 8 months after Jan 6 and with gross incompetence made no plans to implement it.

I believe that too!

This violent fantasy became an obsession, according to former Trump administration officials. The 45th president brought up the topic so often during the early years of his presidency that one former White House official tells Rolling Stone they lost count.

"Fucking kill them all," Trump would say. "An eye for an eye." Other times he'd snap at his staff: "You just got to kill these people." Invoking the brutality of dictatorial regimes that Trump wanted to emulate, he'd add, "Other countries do it all the time."

For Trump, the spectacle was crucial. "He had a particular affinity for the firing squad," says one of the former White House officials. He'd say, "They need to be eradicated, not jailed." Administration officials privately referred to this demand as Trump's "American death-squads idea," comparing it to the drug-war bloodbath carried out by Filipino strongman Rodrigo Duterte. (The sources, some still very much within Trump's circle, requested anonymity in order to speak candidly about sensitive conversations.)

Statement of Support for Vice President Kamala Harris

Vice President Kamala Harris is the best—and only—presidential candidate in this race who is fit to serve as our commander-in-chief. She has demonstrated her ability to take on the most difficult national security challenges in the Situation Room and on the international stage, from rallying our allies against Russia's brutal invasion of Ukraine to standing shoulder to shoulder with our allies in the Indo-Pacific against China's provocative actions, to advancing U.S. leadership on space and artificial intelligence. She is a steadfast supporter of service members, veterans, their families, caregivers, and survivors. She has met with our service members all around the world, from NATO's Eastern Flank to the Korean DMZ. She has spoken repeatedly about the extraordinary skill, discipline, and dedication of our armed services. And she will make sure the United States honors its sacred commitment to those who defend our freedoms and our way of life, including protecting the benefits they earned when they return from service.

Frankly stated, Donald Trump is a danger to our national security and our democracy. His own former National Security Advisors, Defense Secretaries, and Chiefs of Staff have said so. He continually disrespects those who serve in uniform, including wounded warriors, prisoners of war, and those who have made the ultimate sacrifice. He disparaged fallen heroes as "suckers" and "losers" and insulted the heroic service of the late Senator John McCain. At his core, he does not understand selfless service and sacrifice, and he should never be allowed to again serve as commander-in-chief of the greatest fighting force in the world.

He repeatedly fails to take responsibility for his own role in putting service members in harm's way. Without involving the Afghan government, he and his Administration negotiated a deal with the Taliban that freed 5,000 Taliban fighters and allowed them to return to the battlefield. Then, he left President Biden and Vice President Harris with no plans to execute a withdrawal, and with little time to do so. This chaotic approach severely hindered the Biden-Harris Administration's ability to execute the most orderly withdrawal possible and put our service members and our allies at risk. Nevertheless, President Biden with the support of Vice President Harris ended America's longest war, oversaw the largest airlift in U.S. history, and brought our troops home.

Our service members and their loved ones deserve a President with the temperament and track record to serve as commander-in-chief. One who is willing to make tough decisions, who takes accountability, and who always has our back. That leader is Kamala Harris.

Fascism is a religion, blind and fanatical, demanding absolute allegiance. The twentieth century will be remembered as the age when this toxic faith gripped nations, spreading its doctrine of hate and control. It sought to replace reason with obedience, elevating tyranny as a virtue and leaving a legacy of destruction across the world.

Jazz historian and critic Dan Morgenstern dies at 94

Over the course of seven decades, Morgenstern helmed major jazz magazines, wrote books, produced concerts, won multiple Grammys, taught college and oversaw one of the world's largest jazz archives.

By Tom Vitale

Jazz critic and historian Dan Morgenstern has died at age 94.

Over the course of seven decades, Morgenstern helmed major jazz magazines, wrote two books, produced concerts, won multiple Grammys, taught college and oversaw one of the largest jazz archives in the world.

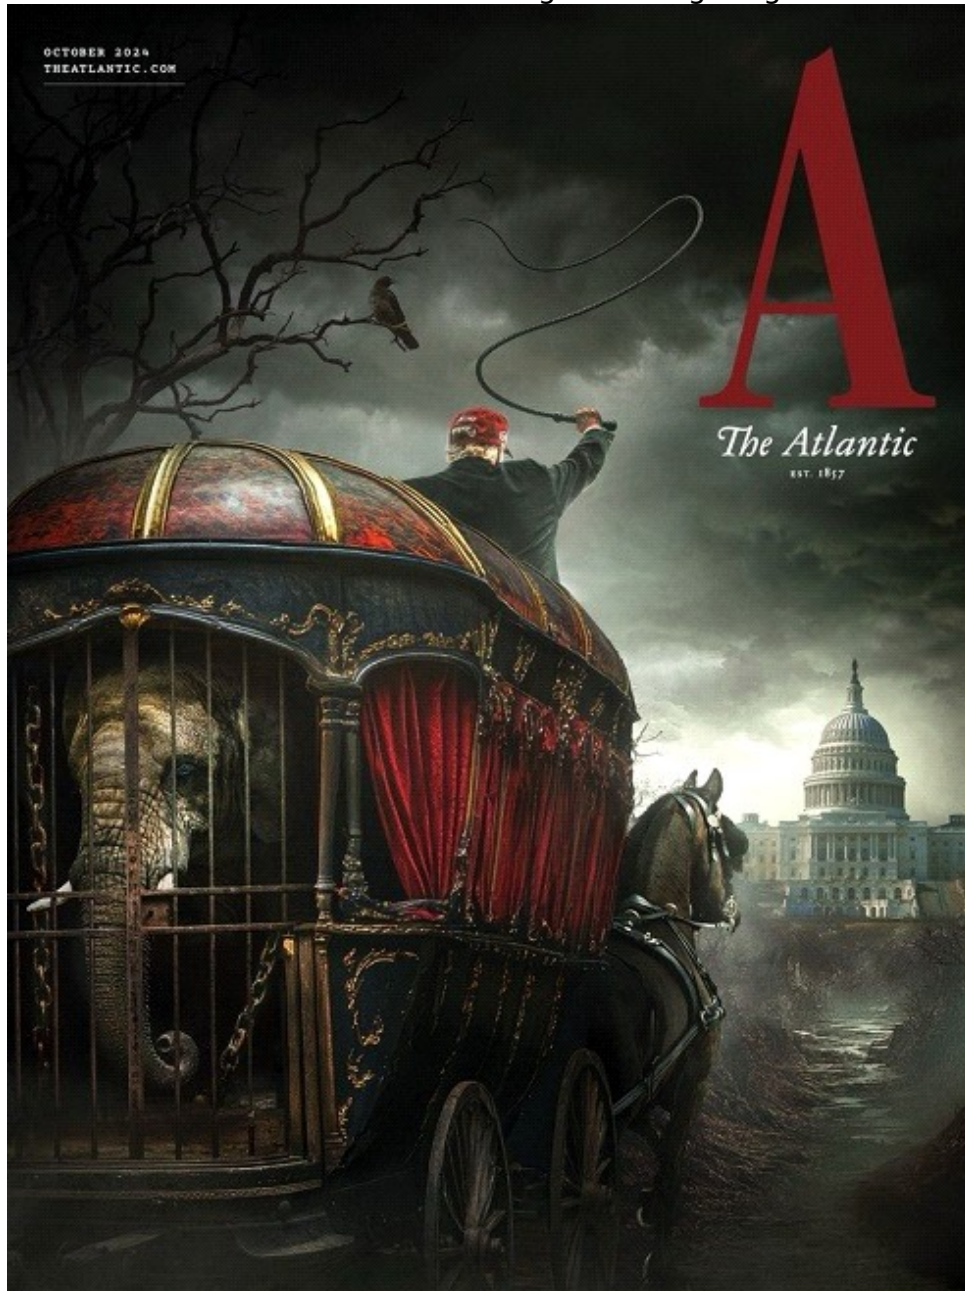

"He died peacefully yesterday (Saturday) afternoon, with his family by his side. He was 94 and died of heart failure," said his son Josh Morgenstern.

Morgenstern began his career right out of college, working as a jazz critic at the New York Post. In the 1960s, he edited the two most influential jazz magazines of the day, Metronome and Downbeat. In 1973, he won the first of his eight Grammy Awards for his liner notes to an anthology of Art Tatum recordings.

The American people deserve to know who's weaponizing their government!

Jack Smith continues to wage lawfare against President Trump despite a federal judge ruling he was unlawfully appointed and effectively a private citizen.

Today, I sent a letter to AG Merrick Garland demanding to know who authorized his continued and unlawful witch hunt against President Trump and whether Smith ignored the Justice Manual's guidance on election interference.

about an hour ago

Matt, you've got your legal briefs twisted. While Judge Cannon did rule Jack Smith's appointment unconstitutional, her decision is an outlier, not the law of the land.

Courts, including SCOTUS, have upheld such appointments before. Smith's team is appealing, and the verdict is far from settled. But hey, facts never got in the way of a good conspiracy, right?

Meanwhile, when will you start asking about Trump's attempts to delay his trials indefinitely?

Notice that Republicans, especially Trump, can offer absolutely no evidence whatsoever that this is actually happening.

In fact every single time Republicans have mounted expensive investigations of elections in this country, they have, every single time, EVERY TIME, come up with complete fuck all. And the paltry few fraudulent votes they do manage to find are almost always REPUBLICANS.

Make Trump prove it.

It started with a handshake.

<https://baynews9.com/fl/tampa/news/2024/09/11/harris-trump-debate-takeaways-philadelphia-2024-abortion-immigration-economy>

While former President Donald Trump and President Joe Biden didn't shake hands during their first and only face-off in June, Vice President Kamala Harris walked onto the debate stage in Philadelphia on Tuesday night, crossed in front of the podiums and extended her hand to the Republican nominee.

"Kamala Harris," she said, underscoring that the two had never met in person. "Let's have a good debate."

"Nice to see you," Trump replied. "Have fun."

From there, the candidates spent the better part of Tuesday's primetime debate hammering one another on a range of issues — from abortion and immigration to foreign policy and the economy — with Harris attempting to bait Trump on topics like his criminal convictions, the size of the crowds at his rallies and the former officials in his administration who oppose his second White House term. And it appeared at times the Republican ex-president took that bait, lashing out at Harris by calling her a "Marxist" and at one point even referencing a false claim that Haitian immigrants are eating peoples' pets in Ohio.

"Donald Trump actually has no plan for you because he is more interested in defending himself than he is in looking out for you," Harris said.

Despite being pressed by moderator David Muir multiple times, former President Donald Trump refused to say he had any regrets about his actions surrounding the Jan. 6, 2021, attack on the U.S. Capitol by his supporters attempting to keep him in power after his 2020 election loss to President Joe Biden.

taylorswift Like many of you, I watched the debate tonight. If you haven't already, now is a great time to do your research on the issues at hand and the stances these candidates take on the topics that matter to you the most. As a voter, I make sure to watch and read everything I can about their proposed policies and plans for this country.

Recently I was made aware that AI of 'me' falsely endorsing Donald Trump's presidential run was posted to his site. It really conjured up my fears around AI, and the dangers of spreading misinformation. It brought me to the conclusion that I need to be very transparent about my actual plans for this election as a voter. The simplest way to combat misinformation is with the truth.

I will be casting my vote for Kamala Harris and Tim Walz in the 2024 Presidential Election. I'm voting for @kamalaharris because she fights for the rights and causes I believe need a warrior to champion them. I think she is a steady-handed, gifted leader and I believe we can accomplish so much more in this country if we are led by calm and not chaos. I was so heartened and impressed by her selection of running mate @timwalz, who has been standing up for LGBTQ+ rights, IVF, and a woman's right to her own body for decades.

I've done my research, and I've made my choice. Your research is all yours to do, and the choice is yours to make. I also want to say, especially to first time voters: Remember that in order to vote, you have to be registered! I also find it's much easier to vote early. I'll link where to register and find early voting dates and info in my story.

I'm Dutch, what does "put out" mean?

2 hours ago

It's ambiguous. It could mean that she relented to pressure to have sex (eg for a promotion), which matches the rhetoric from him and others that she slept her way to where she is. But honestly I don't think that's what he meant in this context, I think he meant 'put out' as in released info or a statement about her ethnicity.

juliebrough3

about an hour ago

The only definition for put out referring to a woman especially by an old gizzard like Trump is :

"A woman puts out" is a vulgar slang term in North American English that means to agree to have sex with someone. For example, "I wasn't going to put out just because he'd paid for dinner".

Any other interpretation people are fooling themselves.

Domenico Montenaro on NPR

Well, that was different from the June 27 debate between President Biden and Donald Trump.

<https://www.npr.org/2024/09/11/g-s1-22023/debate-harris-trump-takeaways>

If that June debate was a five-alarm fire for Democrats that eventually forced Biden from the race, after Tuesday's debate between Trump and Vice President Kamala Harris, Trump's proponents should probably check the temperature in their own house.

She got under Trump's skin - something he usually tries to do - by saying that people at his rallies leave "early out of exhaustion and boredom," painting him as out of touch and a bad businessman for inheriting $400 million “on a silver platter and then filed for bankruptcy six times” and chiding him for being “fired by 81 million people” in the 2020 election and now being “confused” about losing.

Harris addressed policy, including tax breaks for small businesses and parents and touting her idea for a first-time home-buyer credit for down payments. She repeatedly said, “I have a plan,” while Trump was left saying, “I have concepts of a plan” when it comes to replacing the Affordable Care Act.

The spotlight should now be on Trump’s incoherence and general lack of any serious grasp on policy.

He wandered through conspiracies about, not just the election, but also about who is currently president (Joe Biden), the usual about immigrants who (aren’t actually) coming from “mental institutions and insane asylums” and the newly unusual (and debunked) about immigrants who (are not) “eating the dogs” or “cats.”

Trump got the conspiracy wrong, though, because it was about ducks, not dogs.

Trump even got wrong what the actual facts of Harris’ misleading charge that Trump predicted “a bloodbath” if the outcome of this election is “not to his liking.”

That would be (briefly) fun, but that said I don't think Taylor Swift needs anyone to fight her battles for her. I suspect if it came to violence, she'd end Musk with a single high-heeled kick to the forehead without missing a beat of the lyrics.

Like many of you, I watched the debate tonight. If you haven't already, now is a great time to do your research on the issues at hand and the stances these candidates take on the topics that matter to you the most. As a voter, I make sure to watch and read everything I can about their proposed policies and plans for this country.

Recently I was made aware that AI of 'me' falsely endorsing Donald Trump's presidential run was posted to his site. It really conjured up my fears around AI, and the dangers of spreading misinformation. It brought me to the conclusion that I need to be very transparent about my actual plans for this election as a voter. The simplest way to combat misinformation is with the truth.

I will be casting my vote for Kamala Harris and Tim Walz in the 2024 Presidential Election. I'm voting for @kamalaharris because she fights for the rights and causes I believe need a warrior to champion them. I think she is a steady-handed, gifted leader and I believe we can accomplish so much more in this country if we are led by calm and not chaos. I was so heartened and impressed by her selection of running mate @timwalz, who has been standing up for LGBTQ+ rights, IVF, and a woman's right to her own body for decades.

I've done my research, and I've made my choice. Your research is all yours to do, and the choice is yours to make. I also want to say, especially to first time voters: Remember that in order to vote, you have to be registered! I also find it's much easier to vote early. I'll link where to register and find early voting dates and info in my story.

With love and hope,

Bill Pullman, like Glenn Close, is long overdue for an Emil Jannings AA for his charitable work.

<https://www.futureofpersonalhealth.com/antibiotic-resistance/how-bill-pullman-and-armada-are-shielding-the-world-from-antibiotic-resistance/>

Bill Pullman is a famous actor, but the role he most wants to discuss is his work as spokesperson for The Antibiotic Resistance Monitoring, Analysis and Diagnostics Alliance (ARMADA), a non-profit initiative seeking to combat the growing threat of antibiotic resistance.

"My brother is an infectious disease doctor in Montana," Pullman said. "He had encountered for the first time infections that he couldn't cure. He said, 'I want ...to help this microbiologist in Seattle.'"

So Pullman got in touch with Evgeni Sokurenko, M.D., Ph.D., founder of ID Genomics, professor of microbiology at the University of Washington, and a member of ARMADA's Advisory Board.

The Pullman connection

Pullman's family has a strong connection to medicine.

"In some ways, I'm the black sheep going into the arts," he said with a laugh.

"When you see the day-to-day values of what my brothers and sisters are doing — a nurse practitioner, a doctor, a therapist — I wonder ‘What are you doing to benefit the common good?’ So some of it comes from having some good models, and I’m just doing what I can.”

Anyone else wanting to help can start with shopping for food labeled as using antibiotics responsibly, listening when their physician suggests monitoring an infection, and donating money to the cause.

Amy Coney Barrett's silence is deafening. She adopted two Haitian children, yet she won't speak against Trump's vile lies about Haitians eating pets? LINDA RONSTADT to Trump:

"You're NO GOOD!"

THE voices of generations!...

Taylor Swift & now Linda Ronstadt endorse HarrisWalz2024

(linda still rocks pic)

Victor Shi
@Victorshi2020

Holy sh*t. Linda Ronstadt has absolutely HAD it with Donald Trump & JD Vance & she is not holding back one bit. This statement is so good. Everyone must read & share this.

A Statement From Linda Ronstadt

Sept. 11, 2024
San Francisco

Donald Trump is holding a rally on Thursday in a rented hall in my hometown, Tucson. I would prefer to ignore that sad fact. But since the building has my name on it, I need to say something.

It saddens me to see the former President bring his hate show to Tucson, a town with deep Mexican-American roots and a joyful, tolerant spirit.

I don't just deplore his toxic politics, his hatred of women, immigrants and people of color, his criminality, dishonesty and ignorance — although there's that.

For me it comes down to this. In Nogales and across the southern border, the Trump Administration systematically ripped apart migrant families seeking asylum. Family separation made orphans of thousands of little children and babies, and brutalized their desperate mothers and fathers. It remains a humanitarian catastrophe that Physicians for Human Rights said met the criteria for torture.

There is no forgiving or forgetting the heartbreak he caused.

Trump first ran for President warning about rapists coming in from Mexico. I'm worried about keeping the rapist out of the White House.

Linda Ronstadt

P.S. to J.D. Vance:

I raised two adopted children in Tucson as a single mom. They are both grown and living in their own houses. I live with a cat. Am I half a childless cat lady because I'm unmarried and didn't give birth to my kids? Call me what you want, but this cat lady will be voting proudly in November for Kamala Harris and Tim Walz.

I have always loved and admired her for her music, and along with everyone else I knew, I had a little crush in my 20s - and maybe 30s? ha ha. She has also never shied away from politics. Ask Jerry Brown! Read her full statement. It's incredible, and right up there with Taylor Swift's post.

What does a busy president want to eat? This White House chef has the answer

September 12, 2024 5:00 AM ET

Ari Shapiro: You were born in the Philippines. You grew up one of 11 children in Manila and you came to the U.S. at the age of 23. Did any of the presidents you worked for ask you to cook the food of your childhood, the food you grew up with?

Cristeta Comerford: President Obama, he lived in Hawaii for a while, so there's a lot of Filipino communities there, so he's very familiar with the Filipino food. So every now and then I'm, like, on the grill, and he's like, "Hey, is that smelling good right there."

Shapiro: Give us an example.

Comerford: The skewered pork, you know, that's like a street food, but that's something that I love very much. And then whenever I did that — I do beef as well, and chicken — he loves it.

Shapiro: If I were to ask all five presidents what dish Cris is best known for, do you think more than one of them would give me the same answer?

Comerford: I think two of them would give you the same answer. Because President Clinton's favorite is enchiladas. And of course, so is President Bush's. So they'll give the same answer. I make a mean enchilada — homemade tortillas. It has to be homemade.

I read people really well, so last night I could tell when Trump thought he was telling the truth, when he had a real opinion on something vs when he was just talking to fill space, when he actually (accidentally) AGREED with Kamala about important points, got mad, and was actively listening and trying to put thoughts together (which stopped after ~5 mins.)

In this clip, Kamala's expressions are pretty obvious, but Idk if people caught it at the end, there was actual pity and concern for him.

Trump is spreading his anti-immigrant lies again — despite being told his lies are not true.

In Tucson, he says: "Residents are reporting that the migrants are walking off with the town's geese. They're taking the geese. You know where the geese are, in the park, in the lake, and even walking off with their pets. 'My dog's been taken'."

Karine Jean-Pierre hits Trump for his lies about migrants in Ohio:

"What is happening here is an attempt to tear apart communities and disrespect law enforcement, and that is the opposite of what our country deserves. It is undignified and an insult to all of us as Americans, not just one community, but to all of us as Americans. And it is spreading filth that makes the lives of the communities that are being smeared here. It puts their lives in danger and it is just hate speech."

Honesty: I still miss pre-Leon Twitter. I miss the old REAL verifications and verified notifications. I miss the numbers. I miss going to THE place. The virtual town square. I miss everything breaking there. Threads is nice and cozy, but the AI moderation is bizarre (the posts I've had removed), timelines don't seem like real time, I have to keep clicking "following," and a million other things. I appreciate Threads, but it's not there yet. Is Bluesky any better? I can't seem to get going there.

Bluesky is more old school pre2010 Twitteresque. Leans heavier liberal than here, generally. Lots of interesting people, big names, but I find it easier to get posts that interest me here. I can't wait for the majority to settle on one. I'm an impatient type of geek. ☹️ Mastodon is the place to be for atypical interests, and it's reasonably vibrant if you can find interests there. The Masshole in me appreciates nobody owns the whole thing like all the others, but that won't keep it going.

=====re stephen miller rants

Why would Harris need the questions?

The economy, inflation, employment, reproductive rights, healthcare, January 6th, energy, Gaza, Ukraine, race, I mean how fucking hard is it to anticipate what the questions were going to be?

If Trump is half as smart as he thinks he is, if his "team" of political experts (LOL sorry) are half as smart as they think they are, it seems like they would have been ready for those topics and dozens more.

But that's the thing, they aren't even half that smart.

9h9 hours ago

You know who doesn't vote in elections?

Young people

No. Stop. Stop. Just, stop. Eligible voters 18-29 are ALWAYS the lowest turnout, only around 40% in a good year. Compared to 65% for 45-59 year olds and around 70% for 60+

SO, if Taylor Swift can use her celebrity to motivate millions of young people to vote, well, she just might be THE deciding factor in November, because elections have been won or lost by a hell of a lot smaller margins than the number of Taylor Swift fans.

Laura Loomer Looms Over Trump Land

<https://www.thebulwark.com/p/laura-loomer-looms-over-trump-land/comments>

TWO OF DONALD TRUMP'S top congressional surrogates are pleading with the former president to ostracize right-wing provocateur Laura Loomer from his ranks over incendiary comments she's made on social media.

Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-S.C.) and Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene (R-Ga.) fired off criticisms of Loomer after she was spotted twice with Trump in as many days, warning that her presence could trip up the ex-president's election chances. Greene said she went so far as to bring up the matter with Trump on a phone call.

"I've spoken with President Trump, but I'm not going to go into the details of our personal conversation," Greene said on Thursday.

In response, Loomer went nuclear, accusing both Greene and Graham of being insufficiently MAGA, questioning the senator's sexuality, criticizing the congresswoman for having affairs that led to her divorce, and comparing her to a “hooker.”

A failed congressional candidate with a penchant for conspiracies and pot-stirring, Loomer has long been viewed by a faction of Trump land as a Rasputin-like figure. Last year, Trump offered her a job on the campaign, but her internal critics ultimately persuaded him to withdraw the offer. At issue was the controversy that surrounds her. Loomer has called Kamala Harris “a drug using prostitute.” As for why Harris doesn’t have biological children, she once said: “I’m willing to bet she’s had so many abortions that she damaged her uterus.”

.@PeteButtigieg: Kamala Harris has been very clear on what she will do as president. You know who wasn't clear on what they're going to do? Donald Trump. He was given the opportunity to say whether he wanted Ukraine to defeat Russia, and he wouldn't say it. He was given the opportunity to say if he would veto a national abortion ban and he didn't say it, which to me is a pretty strong indication that he would sign it

I call for an investigation of whether Trump was cheating with Laura Loomer during the debate.

Actually, I don't care.

But Melania might want to activate her prenup, because it's starting to feel a lot like wife number four is in play.

"Only Donald Trump would bring a 9/11 conspiracy theorist to the 9/11 memorial," the late night host said. Kimmel later remarked that it's largely been Loomer who's been accompanying Trump throughout his campaign, seemingly in Melania's place. If "accelerationism" isn't on your radar, it should be.

"Accelerationism is a term used by white supremacists and other extremist groups to refer to "their desire to hasten the collapse of society as we know it". Generally, acceleration is used in the context of white genocide conspiracy theories, which believes white people are under threat and are being systematically targeted through e.g. immigration and other means."
